Hello Oral History Queensland members, here is your second e-Bulletin for 2017.

We were warmly welcomed at our first meeting of the year at the Museum of Australian Military Intelligence at Canungra. The Museum is one of our members and curator Captain Magennis proudly showed us around this very interesting museum. Thanks to Captain Magennis and his colleagues for showing us around and for the delicious morning tea.

We would love to receive any information you have to share in our e-Bulletin. You can send it to me at mulligan53@iinet.net.au and use OHQ E-Bulletin in the subject line. If you have an event coming up, let me know as soon as you can to ensure it gets in the e-Bulletin on time. The editor reserves the right not to publish if any information is judged to be inappropriate. Please visit our web site: www.ohq.org.au and “Like” our Facebook page. Our Likes are growing steadily. Also check our Blog which is updated weekly with stories related to oral history. Feel free to add a comment. Any feedback is very welcome. All current financial Queensland members should have received their 2016 Journal by now. If not, please email me. I’m aware at least one did not get through to one of you as it was “returned to sender”.

1. Securing Funding Workshop

Museums & Galleries Queensland will present a two-day Securing Funding Workshop in Chinchilla on 23 and 24 March 2017. Increase your capacity to secure funding... speak face to face with funding bodies... learn about alternate sources of funding including philanthropy, fundraising and crowdfunding... hear case studies of successful partnerships and grant applications... improve your funding application skills!

Please note: this Workshop has been moved from Miles to Chinchilla

When: 23 & 24 March 2017, 9 am - 4:30 pm

Where: Wattle Room, Chinchilla Cultural Centre, Chinchilla

Cost: $50 for Standards Review Program Participants, Volunteers and MAQ/RGAQ

Members; $65 Full Registration

<http://magsq.com.au/cms/page.asp?ID=8204>

This workshop aims to increase your capacity to secure funding by providing opportunities to:

- Speak face-to-face with funding bodies
- Learn about alternative sources of funding
- Hear local case studies of successful grant applications and sponsorship
- Find the right source of funds for your project
- Improve your application writing skills

2. National Library Gets Boost to Deliver Trove

The National Library of Australia has been given a funding boost to upgrade its popular digital resources portal Trove, following doubts about its future. The library had stopped funding the digitisation of newspapers and other content in July, after cuts through the government's efficiency dividend were announced in late 2015. It had also relied on contributors to pay for the uploading of new documents if they wished to expose their collections through Trove. See full story here.

3. Camp Cable

New member Hilda Maclean, Local Heritage Specialist at Logan City Council, (HildaMaclean@logan.qld.gov.au) says:

“September 2017 marks the 75th anniversary of the construction of Camp Cable between Logan Village and Tamborine (now under the Yarrabilba Community) and the arrival of 20,000 US troops. I was hoping to interview anyone who remembers the friendly invasion (the youngest would be in the early 80s or someone who served there who would be in their mid-90s). Finding these people is the challenge, and I was wondering if any of the members happened to have interviewed anyone with a connection who has since passed on.

“For anyone who is interested in Camp Cable, I have collected a list of online resources in Trove. There were over 150 buildings on site which was disposed of by auction in 1946 and dispersed around the district.”

Please email Hilda if you can help.

4. Tasmania newsletter

For your information and interest, you may see the Tasmania newsletter, Real to Reel, December 2016 here. Please note, this newsletter will be removed from our website on 14 March 2017.

5. A Place to Call Home? Migrant Hostel Memories

Developed and presented by the National Archives of Australia, A Place to Call Home? Migrant hostel memories is a national touring exhibition that draws attention to the culture shock of post-war immigrants in Australia. 18 February – 30 April 2017

Entry: Normal admission applies, entry is free for MyMuseum members

Venue: Museum of Tropical Queensland, 70-102 Flinders Street, Townsville

More information here.

6. Oral History Australia National Conference

There are now welcome videos from both keynotes on the conference

website: <https://dcconferences.eventsair.com/QuickEventWebsitePortal/ohac17/cs>

7. International Oral History Association Conference

The Finnish Oral History Network (FOHN), University of Jyväskylä and the Finnish Literature Society (SKS) cordially propose to host the XX International Oral History Congress at the University of Jyväskylä, Finland, from 18th June to 21th June 2018. The theme of the XX IOHA Congress is Memory and Narration. The congress focuses on the complex and multidimensional nature of oral history, and we welcome presentations from diverse perspectives. We invite papers that focus on methodological issues concerning the production and analysis of oral histories and life stories. We especially encourage contributions related to oral history sources as narratives/narration and applications of methodological theories and practices. For more information, including Call for Papers and Preliminary Program, click here.

8. Australian Historical Association Conference – Oral History Strand

The Australian Historical Association Conference is to be held at the University of Newcastle between 3 and 7 July 2017, hosted by UON's School of Humanities and Social Science.

Invitation to submit abstracts for panel sessions and individual papers is now open. Proposals must be submitted by 31 March 2017.

The theme of the conference is 'Entangled Histories'. It reflects the increasing move away from narrowly defined 'national' histories towards an understanding of History as an interlinked whole where identities and places are the products of mobilities and connections. We welcome submissions that consider the value of entangled frameworks for analysis from all historical periods, themes and research areas, but as is customary with Australian Historical Association conferences, the theme will be interpreted broadly. Keynote speakers and plenary panels will concentrate closely on the theme but other papers and panel proposals loosely addressing the theme are also welcomed. For

9. Federation of Australian Historical Societies Newsletter – Call for Papers

FAHS Newsletter 43 on the theme of 'Doing History'. Articles are requested from around Australia that reflect on the myriad ways that our historical societies 'do history' – from protecting and preserving historical records to unearthing information that help shape local identity and belonging. For some historical societies the focus is on running a museum, for others on research and publication output. A number are enmeshed in the community fabric and provide an undeniable service to the vitality of the local area. Many also play a role in supporting learning about Australian history through public programs, events and seminars.

In addition to general articles around heritage and history, we invite writing on the role of local knowledge sources, oral histories and family archives in the formation of Australian history and the many ways that historical societies activate the public's engagement with history. We are seeking articles from each state and territory of up to 800 words.

The schedule for submission of full papers is March 30th 2017

The FAHS newsletter is distributed via our contact list and on ISSUU. The last newsletter No. 42 on the theme of Historical Collections can be viewed here Please send expressions of interest and proposals to the FAHS outreach officer Bernadette Flynn at fahsbflynn@gmail.com by 5th March.

10. Community Heritage Grants

The Department of the Environment and Energy calls for applications for Community Heritage and Icons Grants 2016-17 (the 'Program'). The applications period will conclude in March/April 2017.

In 2016-17, the Program is providing funding for community groups, individuals and local governments to support community engagement with, and raise awareness of, places on Australia's National Heritage List. Individual grants of between $2,500 (GST exclusive) and $10,000 (GST exclusive) will be made available.

Information about the Program, including the Guidelines and Application Form, is available at: <http://www.environment.gov.au/heritage/grants-and-funding/community-heritage-icons-grants/2016-17> .

Note: Applications close at 2pm Thursday 23 March 2017.

11. Oral Historian wanted in Brisbane

I have received an email from someone wanting to hire an oral historian to interview his parents in Brisbane. He says:

“I am interested in a DVD interview style with a question answer format with both of my parents and the interviewer. It is for the purpose of preserving their memories for our family, and a copy will be given to each family member. The questions would be about their upbringing, challenges, raising kids, reflections of their life, faith etc. and messages they would like to leave each family member.

I see it being about 1/2 to one hour long after editing. It would need to take place in their home, and hopefully in the near future.”

Please email me at mulligan53@inet.net.au if you are interested and I will put you in touch with the enquirer.

12. Labour History Conference

Today, the Australian working class are workers of the world: in the sense that we are a predominantly immigrant working class (or the descendants of relatively recent immigrants); and in the sense that workers from so many of the world's nations, languages and cultures have made their homes here. The year 2017 also marks the centenary of the Russian Revolution, which had such a profound impact on the labour movement in every country, not least as a result of its internationalism.

23 - 25 September 2017. Emmanuel College, within the The University of Queensland (UQ) will be hosting. For more information, click here.

13. Writing the Digital Futures - Bundaberg

Creative Regions is excited to be hosting digital and locative storytelling workshops on March 4-5. These workshops are open to anyone who has a passion for local or family history, and to people who have a true or imagined story to tell about the Bundaberg CBD.

Expert facilitators from 'Writing The Digital Futures', along with photographer and filmmaker Bryan Crawford, and SLQ's Creative in Residence Matt Finch will work with participants to investigate innovative ways of sharing place-based stories; digital storytelling tools & software; and oral history techniques for capturing fantastic stories about places and people. No equipment or prior knowledge required, and the weekend is only $15. Register here.

14. When Sonia Met Boris

Anna Shternshis' new book, When Sonia Met Boris: an Oral History of Jewish Life under Stalin, just came out from Oxford University Press. It is solely based on oral histories, discusses the use of oral histories in studying totalitarian societies, and focuses on how the use of oral histories challenges our understanding of the Jewish experience in the Soviet Union. For more information, click here.

15. Social Science History Conference Belfast 2018

The International Institute of Social History will organize the Twelfth European Social Science History conference in Belfast, 4-7 April 2018 at Queens University. Oral History and Life Stories Network's call for papers:

TIME IN ORAL HISTORY AND LIFE STORIES

The Oral History and Life Stories Network brings together oral historians and life stories practitioners who use oral histories to explore memory, narrative and history. This time we explore how do we as oral historians handle time in different ways? Oral history is related to several aspects of time and can be understood as the establishment of a dialogue between experiences in the past and the lived situation in the present. As interviewers we take part in, and through questions contribute to, narrators continuously meaning making of their experiences in the past. Research and interviewing takes time and are conducted at a specific time. Further, what happens over time with the oral history interview as source, when we revisit our own interviewees for a second, third or fourth time, over time or many years later or when we re-use our own or other researchers archived oral history interviews? For more information, click here.

16. Record oral history with an iPad Workshop

You may have read the article "My Experiments with Oral History on the iPad" by Sharee Cordes in the 2015 Oral History Australia Journal. Sharee presented her paper on this at the 2015 OHA Conference in Perth. Last year Sharee hosted a workshop sharing her experience with using the iPad for recording oral histories. She will do another workshop on 25 March 2017. If you are interested in attending the workshop, please register by email with me (Suzanne Mulligan) at mulligan53@inet.net.au and you will receive further information. Numbers are strictly limited to ensure all participants receive full attention. This is not an "oral history basics" workshop. Participants will be expected to have done a basics workshop or have interviewing experience. This workshop will allow you to apply that knowledge using a different recorder.

Have a look at a story about Sharee using her iPad for her local historical society here.

17. Call for Papers OHA 2017 Journal

Papers on the themes of the Biennial National Conference to be held in Sydney in September 2017 'Moving Memories - Oral Histories in a Global World.' Themes are:

- Migration
- Journeys and pilgrimage
- Contested memories across cultures in local communities
- Sensory memories
- Oral history and emotions
- Movement across and within borders
- Mobile apps and podcasts for oral histories
- Oral history as listening
- Digital technology in a global world
- Place and belonging

For more information click here.

18. Call for Papers IOHA 2017 Journal “Words and Silences”

Oral History and Emotions. This call for papers is aimed at those academic studies that use emotions as an analytical tool and demonstrate, from specific testimonies, how emotions point our actions towards a particular direction and infuse with meaning our everyday experiences. We seek to elucidate whether it could be possible to define a period or historical event by its “mood” or atmosphere, capable of introducing social or cultural transformations, as well as to analyse which emotional/affective practices are possible and in which bodies or subjectivities they reside. For more information click here.

19. Charlton Oral History Research Grant

“The Baylor University Institute for Oral History (USA) invites individual scholars with training and experience in oral history research who are conducting oral history interviews to apply for support of up to $3,000 for one year (June through May). With this grant, the Institute seeks to partner with one scholar who is using oral history to address new questions and offer fresh perspectives on a subject area in which the research method has not yet been extensively applied. Interdisciplinary, cross-cultural research on local, national, or international subjects is welcome.”
Overseas applicants are eligible to apply. Read more here.

20. Queensland Memory Awards

These awards recognise the valuable contribution of individuals and organisations across Queensland in the investigation, preservation and celebration of Queensland’s memory - past and present. Applications for State Library of Queensland Fellowships and Queensland Memory Awards for 2017 are now open. For more information, click here.

Fellowships Showcase and Information Night

When: 9 March 2017, 5:15 pm - 7:30 pm

Are you thinking about applying for a State Library of Queensland Fellowship or ever wondered what a year as a fellow would be like? Join current SLQ fellows for an evening talk as they showcase their inspiring research. Free entry, booking is essential. To book, or for more information, go to www.slq.qld.gov.au

21. Interviewing Vulnerable Narrators – Panel Discussion

OHQ and State Library hosted an interesting and successful evening on 23 February with our speakers Anne Monsour, Jo Besley and Kevin Cocks, with moderator OHQ President Margaret Ridley. Anne talked about her interviews with the Australian Lebanese community and the Forgotten Australians. Some of these interviews were quite traumatic and she explained the coping mechanisms that were in place for these projects. Kevin spoke about the Anti-Discrimination Act and how it changed disability rights in Queensland. Jo spoke about stories she had collected from people who had a mental illness. About 90 attendees enjoyed the discussion.
